

Hope Project Booklet Delivery Standards & Procedures

A. Delivery Standards – Additional Materials

To keep the message of the Hope For All booklets clear and focused, we kindly request that no other materials be delivered at the same time as these booklets.

This includes:

- Political material or endorsements
- Opinions on political issues
- Opinions or teaching on “end times” or similar denominationally divisive topics
- Any other potentially divisive content

We take this approach to protect the wide appeal and unity that the Hope Project booklets are designed to foster, while still sharing a clear Christian message.

Exceptions (when collaboration reflects unity):

- Local Church Flyers (Collaborative): A flyer listing all local churches is welcome. This shows that this is a united effort from the churches of New Zealand.
- Single Church Events: An invitation to an Easter service or special event by a single church may be included only for the immediate area around that church building. Please do not use this widely, so as to avoid any perception of one church being promoted above others.

We believe that this open-handed, generous approach best represents the message we are sharing together as Christians in our communities.

B. Booklet Delivery – Standards and Procedures

Before and during delivery, volunteers must follow these steps:

1. Safety Requirements:
 - Watch the Safety Video Briefing and complete the Health & Safety form at alltogether.co.nz/safety
2. Respect Letterbox Rules:
 - Hope Project booklets are classed as advertising and we require that they must not be placed in letterboxes marked ‘No Circulars’ or ‘No Junk Mail’ (or similar).
 - In those cases, booklets may be offered personally at the door if appropriate.
 - Some signs may apply to entire apartment blocks or retirement villages, please respect these.
 - No other flyers/pamphlets may be delivered alongside the Hope Project booklets (see Part A above).
3. Follow Map Boundaries Carefully:
 - Deliver only within the boundary lines shown on your allocated map.
 - Each volunteer’s area has a zone number at its centre, this ensures every letterbox receives only one booklet.
 - Where a boundary line runs along a street, deliver only on the side inside your zone. Another volunteer will cover the opposite side.

By following these steps, we keep the project safe, respectful, and well-organised.
